A discussion regarding the inevitable...

Whether it is in 5 weeks, 5 months, 5 years or 5 decades, a viable people mover program over our waters is inevitable. Land based infrastructure is stressed almost to the breaking point. Seasonal and year-round populations are growing at a feverish pace. People are discovering Sarasota and Manatee Counties and our Barrier Islands like nothing else we have ever seen. If we are not careful, we will see much more massive traffic jams, parking problems and overcrowding in ways we could not have imagined just 15 years ago. Is it acceptable to take 2 hours and to travel from Anna Maria to Sarasota or Palmetto? We think not.

We don't have all the answers. All we offer at Paradise Boat Tours is one important cog in the wheel.

WATER-BASED TRANSPORTATION

Water-based transportation is the foundation of the ICW. Usage of the waterway almost exclusively refers to some form of transportation, whether it be for passenger or private boats, the migration of manatees, or the heavy industrial operations at the Port of Palm Beach. Public input during the charrette reaffirmed this with requests for increased and improved access via boat launch sites, development of water-based services, development of water-dependent destinations, expansion of rental services amenities, further development of marine-related industries, and overall transportation corridor system preservation. These areas of interest were underpinned with the need for environmental protection and overall preservation of quality of life for surrounding communities.

This chapter provides an overview of water-based transportation along the Intercoastal Waterway in Palm Beach County. It identifies opportunities presented by the waterway, the users and the economics behind those users, and the relationships the ICW has with other water-based businesses as well as the region. The potential for water use and service is analyzed extensively, with an overview of existing services, conceptual operating program, and an array of existing, pending, and recommended water taxi stops in Palm Beach County. High speed ferry service from the Port of Palm Beach is also analyzed, and a series of recommendations are provided regarding waterborne transportation services, functions, and their relationship with the options.
