LICENSING PROCEDURE

C. Issuance of License

The acceptance of a license shall signify consent of the license to be governed by the Tariff rules and regulations of the Authority. All initial licenses shall be issued to expire ~~on the December 31st next annually~~ after date of issuance. ~~Licenses shall be issued annually for the period January 1st through December 31st.~~

D. License Renewals

The Executive Director or his designee shall review applications for license renewals. Licensee's in good standing who have been actively engaged in the business authorized under their license during the previous 12-month licensing period will be allowed to renew their license and will be assessed only the prescribed licensing fee as part of their renewal. Licensees who have not performed the services authorized under their license will be considered inactive and will be required to reapply for licensing consideration. This process will include all elements of the initial licensing process including assessment of the initial licensing fee.

E. No license shall be transferred or assigned or otherwise used by any person other than the named licensee. The attempting to transfer, assign, or otherwise set over such license shall be cause for revocation. However, where all of the licensee's assets have been acquired by or are under the control of any other person, firm, corporation, or other business entity, as the result of a merger, consolidation, or purchase, the licensee may, at the discretion of the Executive Director, qualify to assign its license to the person, firm, corporation, or other business entity that has acquired or controls the licensee's assets.
