Chad Butzow:

Calvary Chapel School's mission is to provide affordable private school education. Therefore, our school operates on a limited budget to stay true to this mission. The limits to this budget have affected technology here at Calvary Chapel School. The laptops we use are the less expensive types (due to budget restrictions), which are, among other things, limited in space and therefore unable to be updated. Teachers continually have issues with their operating systems.

Technologies in the classes are limited to five tablets for the potential use of 107 students. Even with these limits on technology, general academics have not been affected; our children are scoring approximately 3 grades higher than the national norm according to SAT scores. Yet we have lacked the ability to enhance their education through technological means, especially in the upper grades. Our eighth grade graduates often enter public high schools without the technological insight they need to navigate a computer-saturated world. We have been considering how to meet this pressing need and are thankful for any help you can offer us.

Specifically, we could use the following:

- 8 Laptops
- 10 Tablets

Thank you so much for your consideration of our school in this matter.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Mater
Administrator
